Sir Thomas Wyatt

He was born in kent-england he was a famous english poet and diplomat. He worked for King Henry VIII as a diplomat and then travelled to italy and learned from italian poets like Francesco Petrarca and was highly influenced by his work such as the form of the petrarchian sonnet.

He wrote alot of famous poems one of wich is “Whoso List to Hunt” wich shows to us what kind of poetry the Sir Thomas Wyatt wrote

Whoso list to hunt, I know where is an hind,

But as for me, hélas, I may no more.

The vain travail hath wearied me so sore,

I am of them that farthest cometh behind.

Yet may I by no means my wearied mind

Draw from the deer, but as she fleeth afore

Fainting I follow. I leave off therefore,

Since in a net I seek to hold the wind.

Who list her hunt, I put him out of doubt,

As well as I may spend his time in vain.

And graven with diamonds in letters plain

There is written, her fair neck round about:

Noli me tangere, for Caesar's I am,

And wild for to hold, though I seem tame.

Whoever wants to hunt, I know where there is a female deer,

But as for me, alas, I cannot continue anymore.

The useless effort has made me so tired,

I am one of those who have fallen farthest behind.

Yet I cannot take my tired mind

Away from the deer, but as she runs ahead,

I follow her, growing weaker. So I give up,

Since I am trying to catch the wind in a net.

Whoever wants to hunt her, I want to make it clear

That he will waste his time just as I have.

And engraved with diamonds, in clear letters,

There is a message written all around her beautiful neck:

Do not touch me, for I belong to Caesar,

And I am wild and impossible to capture, even though I seem tame.

The Petrarchan sonnet originated in Italy.

It was developed by the Italian poet Francesco Petrarca (Petrarch) in the 14th century.

It later influenced English poets, including Sir Thomas Wyatt and Henry Howard, who introduced the sonnet into English poetry in the 16th century .

the petrarchian sonnet is a sonnet contains of 14 lines decided into octave and a sestet rhyming as ABBA-ABBA-CDDC-EE

- Form: Sonnet (14 lines).
- Rhyme scheme: ABBA ABBA CDDC EE.
- Meter: Mainly iambic pentameter, but some lines have irregular stresses.
- Structure: Octave (8 lines) and sestet (6 lines) devided into 2 quatrinth making the first octave and one last quatrinth followed by one couplet making the last sestet.

3. Main Themes Unattainable love. Desire and frustration. Power and ownership. Giving up after repeated failure.
4. Poetic Techniques Metaphor: “Since in a net I seek to hold the wind.” — Trying to achieve the impossible. Symbolism: The hind (female deer) represents the woman the speaker desires. Imagery: “Fainting I follow.” — Creates an image of an exhausted hunter. Enjambment: Lines 5–6 — The sentence continues into the next line. Emotive language: “The vain travail hath wearied me so sore.” — Expresses exhaustion and frustration.

The volta.

Introduce — Lines 1–4: The speaker introduces the hunt.

Develop — Lines 5–8: The speaker struggles to catch the deer and decides to give up.

Turn — Lines 9–12: The speaker warns other hunters that pursuing the deer is a waste of time.

Conclude — Lines 13–14: The collar reveals that the deer belongs to